Report of the School Superintendent

To the School Directors and Citizens of Hartland:

The superintendent of schools submits the following report. The district as organized in 1930 includes five townships, with a total school population of 987. This figure represents an increase of 53 over the enrollment of September, 1932. This is accounted for by the substantial increase in the South Royalton High School, and by an unusually large First Grade, the latter enrollment being 127 last fall as compared to an average number of about 100 in previous years. Forty-six teachers are now employed in the district, Barnard having 8, Hartland 10, Pomfret 6, Royalton 15, and Thetford 7.

At the opening of schools last September, a meeting of all the teachers in the Windsor Northeast District was held at the South Royalton High School building. An all-day program included address by Commissioner Bailey, Mrs. Bailey, Deputy Commissioner Batchelder, and Miss Allingham and Mrs. Kelly, State Helping Teachers. Group meetings were held during the afternoon at which time problems of interest to rural, graded and high school teachers were discussed. This general meeting took the place of the usual teachers' meetings which have been held previously in each town during the first week of the Fall Term. A large meeting seems to have several advantages over that of small local groups. It provides a better opportunity for the teachers of the district to become familiar with general aims for the school year; larger groups provoke more helpful and stimulating discussions than are possible in a group of from six to ten; members of the State Department of Education as well as other speakers of ability may be secured; finally, it is an effective time saver for the superintendent at this particularly busy season of the school year.

On December 5th, at the invitation of your superintendent, a conference of School Directors and Superintendents was held at South Royalton with Commissioner Bailey in charge. Many problems pertaining to education and the administration of schools were discussed, with particular benefit to all those present.

As the improvement of instruction is recognized as the most important function of supervision, I have accordingly devoted the major portion of my time during the past year to classroom visitation. In an effort to keep abreast of modern trends in education, I have attended educational meetings in Vermont as well as in other parts of New England. A recent election to the Board of Directors of the New England Association of School Superintendents will afford me an opportunity to keep in touch with educational practises throughout the East. During the past year, it has been my privilege to speak on school matters before a large number of P. T. A. meetings, Woman's Clubs, Granges and other local organizations. As a means of interpreting the schools to the public, your superintendent feels that a reasonable amount of his time may be very properly devoted to this type of work. As much of the adverse criticisms which are directed toward the schools today arise from misunderstandings and lack of correct information, I heartily endorse the activities of Parent Teacher Associations and similar groups whose aim it is to create a better understanding between the home and school.

While no major school improvement projects have been undertaken in Hartland this year, minor repairs have been made in several districts. At the Bates school the interior was improved greatly with paint, new window shades, and a circulating heater. Adjustable shades have been purchased recently for the Four Corners school, movable desks have been installed at the Center, and the lighting fixtures at the Village and at North Hartland have been lowered to the proper level. The Jenneville Club has purchased a new clock and shades, and has done considerable work on the improvement of the playground. The program of standardization should go steadily forward until every building in town is entitled to wear a "Standard" plate. In several districts only a small additional outlay is necessary to meet these requirements.

In the schools throughout the town a high grade of work is being carried on under an efficient corps of teachers. Achievement tests as well as the Standard Graduation Examinations bear evidence of a high degree of efficiency in the classroom. Only one change occurred in the teaching force last year. Miss McAllister, a graduate of the two year training course at Lyndon Normal School, replaced Mrs. Preston in the North Hartland Grammar Room. Owing to the large enrollments in the lower grades at North Hartland, the Fourth Grade was transferred to the Grammar Room as a temporary measure. This unbalanced division of the grades in the two rooms should be discontinued as soon as a normal enrollment of beginners occurs.

The following pupils completed the Eighth Grade and were granted certificates : Norman Baldwin, James Bow-ers, Allen Britton, Jr., Charles Benton, Mildred Clayton, Walter Colburn, Marie Couture, Carroll Durphey, Launise Flower, Edward French, Arthur Gaudette, Thomas Kings-ley, Francis Oakes, Paul Shepard, Isabelle Small, and Al-fred Tancreti.

School enrollments at the opening of the Fall Term were as follows : Bates 18 ; Center 13 ; Four Corners Grammar 36 ; Four Corners Primary 24 ; Grout 19 ; Jenneville 14 ; North Hartland Grammar 27 ; North Hartland Primary 19 ; Village Grammar 36 ; Village Primary 28.

Elementary cost per pupil for the year ending June 30, 1933 was approximately $68.00.

For the continued support and cooperation of the School Directors, teachers, parents, and others interested in our schools I am sincerely appreciative.

Respectfully submitted,

February 1, 1934
